

Get your avatar assistant to communicate!

Now you've created your 3D avatar assistant it's time to think about what things it could communicate on its body display.

Use this sheet to come up with different message ideas. Write your messages in the boxes which are the same shape as the display window on the avatar model. Feel free to experiment with different styles of writing!

To get you started, think about:

- What kind of greeting could your avatar say.
- Perhaps you get shy and your assistant could say a greeting for you, what would it be?
- Are there things that you find difficult to say that your avatar assistant could help say for you? How you're feeling for example.
- Are there favourite things you like to say or things you say a lot? Perhaps you could ask someone who knows you well what things they hear you say.
- Are there any statements you could make about things you believe in, and think are important to say!
